Do you need to develop and upskill your Managers?

The drive for competitive advantage means that companies must continually find ways to improve performance. You will achieve more with upskilled, qualified managers who will be more able to drive business change.

Are your Managers working towards recognised qualifications?

We believe that business performance and training outcomes improve dramatically when programmes are tailored to the workplace and suited to the needs of the learner and the employer. A qualification is the concrete proof of competence, for all concerned.

Why you should choose StudyFlex

Our unique StudyFlex approach to work based, flexible learning delivers consistent and measurable results, for companies and managers alike.

We align to your goals and the needs and motivations of the managers within it. We tailor materials to the language of your work place.

We underpin with qualifications, accredited by the Chartered Management Institute, the pre-eminent UK body.

Then we deliver flexible learning packages at a pace to suit each learner, with no set times, terms or attendance required.

Our flexible tutor support programme provides proactive coaching and employer feedback from experienced business managers, registered, accredited and developed.

What are we offering?

Peace of mind! A no-obligation meeting to review your overall Management Development activity, including an assessment against the National Occupational Standards for Managers, with one of our experienced Directors.

How can you find out more?

Just call StudyFlex on 023 8066 8224 or e-mail help@studyflex.co.uk and we will arrange your initial assessment meeting, where we can review your situation and needs and then begin to discuss how you can develop your managers the way that they would choose.

FACT 2: Only 40% of UK Managers have a qualification at Level 4 or greater.
